Factory Authorized Service Centers in the USA

Jabsco Factory Authorized Service Centers' functions include: repair of under-warranty products; repair (for nominal charge) out-of-warranty pumps; suggesting repair parts for end users; and troubleshooting problem applications and installations.

If you, or your customer, need to return a product for warranty consideration, the following steps should be followed for the best possible service.

1. Telephone your most convenient service center for a return material authorization (RMA) number. They will, whenever possible, troubleshoot the problem with you or your customer to resolve the claim; but if the product has to be returned, use the RMA number given to you by the customer service representative. Waste System products must be thoroughly cleaned prior to return for repair.
2. When it arrives here, we will review the problem, determine whether it is warranty or not, estimate cost and time required to repair the product, then phone you with this information.
3. For problems covered under our one year limited warranty, repairs will be completed and an itemized list of parts and labor will be enclosed with the product and it will be returned to you.
4. For problems deemed non-warranty, they will request a verbal authorization from you for the estimated repair costs, repair the product, and return it with a detailed parts and labor breakdown and invoice for the charges.

Jabsco Factory Authorized Service Centers are staffed by capable people who are dedicated to servicing product in the shortest turnaround time and at the lowest cost to you or your customer.
